LONGVIEW, Texas, June 11, 2024 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Friedman Industries, Incorporated (NYSE American: FRD) announced today its results of operations for the quarter and fiscal year ended March 31, 2024.

March 31, 2024 Quarter Highlights:

- Net earnings of $5.0 million
- Sales of $132.2 million
- 13% increase in sales volume over the preceding third quarter
- 9% increase in sales volume over the prior year fourth quarter

Fiscal Year March 31, 2024 Highlights:

- Net earnings of $17.3 million - second most profitable fiscal year in Company history
- Sales of $516.3 million

"We ended fiscal 2024 with a strong fourth quarter that made it our second most profitable fiscal year in Friedman's history," said Michael J. Taylor, President and Chief Executive Officer. "This result is evidence of the quality of our assets and our strategy, as well as the hard work and dedication of our team members, who make and deliver our products to customers every day."

Taylor continued, "Our sales volume increased approximately 19% in fiscal 2024 compared to our previous fiscal year with the growth driven by output from our new Sinton, TX facility. We expect further growth from our Sinton facility in fiscal 2025 as we approach full production capacity. At the end of fiscal 2024, we neared completion of an upgrade to our Decatur, AL processing line that will allow us to increase the sales volume from that facility in fiscal 2025. The Company's market share continues to expand with our products being a vital part of the defined supply chain for more of the country's top steel consumers. Fiscal 2024 was another year of considerable steel price volatility but we maintained profitability in each quarter of fiscal 2024, demonstrating our ability to analyze and respond appropriately to changing market conditions."

"I am pleased that investors are starting to recognize the value of our Company. Our stock began fiscal 2024 trading in the $11 per share range and ended the fiscal year considerably higher. We have more value to unlock by delivering consistent profitability across price cycles and maximizing output from our current assets. In addition, our strategy remains focused on opportunities that will deliver long-term value to the Company and its shareholders. Our dividend increase in March reflects our favorable outlook; I see value in Friedman today along with significant opportunities for growth in the future," Taylor concluded.

The tubular segment recorded operating profits of approximately $0.8 million and $2.5 million for the 2024 quarter and 2023 quarter, respectively.

HEDGING ACTIVITIES

We utilize hot-rolled coil (“HRC”) futures to manage price risk on unsold inventory and longer-term fixed price sales agreements. We typically account for our hedging activities under mark-to-market (“MTM”) accounting treatment and all hedging decisions are intended to protect the value of our inventory and produce more consistent financial results over price cycles. With MTM accounting treatment it is possible that hedging related gains or losses might be recognized in a different fiscal year or fiscal quarter than the corresponding improvement or contraction in our physical margins. For the 2024 quarter, we recognized a gain on hedging activities of approximately $1.1 million. For fiscal 2024, we recognized a total hedging gain of approximately $1.4 million.

OUTLOOK

“Friedman had a strong fiscal 2024 and we believe we can deliver continued success in fiscal 2025,” Taylor said. “We have one of the best teams in the industry and a solid company with the foundation to grow long-term shareholder value.”

The Company expects sales volume for its first quarter of fiscal 2025 to be similar to the sales volume for the fourth quarter of fiscal 2024 despite the first quarter having half a month of planned downtime for new equipment installation at our Decatur facility and our Sinton facility having a week of planned maintenance downtime. The Company expects first quarter margins to be lower than fourth quarter margins due to declining HRC prices during the first quarter but anticipates the lower margin to be offset by hedging gains. As of the date of this release, hedging gains for the first quarter of fiscal 2025 totaled approximately $5.3 million.
